

AR ghost hunting game where you will be able to use your phone to tap ghosts in order to capture them in an XR environment.

Welcome to our exciting new AR ghost hunting game! Our unique software development project allows players to enter the Spirit world and use their phones to capture ghosts in an XR environment. With each level becoming increasingly difficult, this is a game that will keep you on the edge of your seat as you embark on a thrilling adventure to discover the name of the ghost to kill it.

Our game offers a new genre to the AR gaming community, unlike most AR games that are collection games. With Unity game engine and Android's UX API.

The gameplay involves using AR for user interaction, tapping ghosts to capture them, and working your way through five levels, each with unique ghost models and mechanics. As you progress through the game, the levels become more challenging and scarier. The program will also save your progress on the same device, allowing you to pick up where you left off. Our game offers an underrepresented niche in the market with its horror genre, and we are filling a gap in the XR mobile app economy. We have created an efficient ad revenue model with Google AdSense, and the low upfront cost of creating on Android means that our game is economically feasible.

Our game offers an underrepresented niche in the market with its horror genre, and we are filling a gap in the XR mobile app economy. We have created an efficient ad revenue model with Google AdSense, and the low upfront cost of creating on Android means that our game is economically feasible.

We have focused on non-functional requirements to ensure our game runs seamlessly on all Android devices, allowing login using an existing Google account. We have also ensured that our system is reliable, secure, and provides fast response times. The interface is user-friendly and easy to navigate, making it simple for anyone to play.

In summary, our AR ghost hunting game offers an exciting and unique gaming experience for players who love a challenge and want to escape the real world. It is a single player game with five levels to choose from, each with their own unique ghost models and mechanics.

With our efficient ad revenue model, the game is economically feasible and fills an underrepresented niche in the market. So come and join us on this thrilling adventure into the Spirit world!
